Sirs!

The bearer of the present, Mr Manning of Cambridge, having to pass through St. Petersburg on his travels towards the interior of Asia, we have been acquainted by a particular friend to present him with a recommendation in your city, as he is an entire stranger there. We take therefore the liberty of thus introducing him to you, and any services you may be enabled to render him will be considered as obligations conferred on us, which we shall be happy to repay, whenever you put it in our power.
