

According to the testimony of the Master of the shop

Chun-a-mao called out Hoang a Shing Tang-a-ko brought him back Chun a tang came up & enquiring was informed by the dying man that he Hoang a Shing was walking with 4 China men, whom he names ~~of whom he is~~ ~~the person now enquiring~~ & that they fell in with a scuff with 3 foreigners & that one of these foreigners had wounded him & He having to Tang a ko asks who these foreigners were, learns from Tang a ko that by their dress & appearance they were Englishmen

* ~~Chun a tang names as follows~~ Among them he appears neither Tang a ko the groundwork, nor Chun a tang, the English neither does any one of these four whether He means the English or Chun a tang or the dying man, ^{or the master of the shop} cannot learn but the merchants must be able to say, tho the Comprodor cannot.

In the after examination of Fongah Fongah deposes that he ~~in~~ saw the place saw 3 foreigners shuffling with heavy a thing & one of these foreigners said they asked that these foreigners by the Dredge were Sey. That before they were there were had probably seen about Chumbrud &c.
