The primary division of temperament is into two one belonging to those who more dread evil & social life from the people than from the rulers & the other to whom who dread the reverse.

The 1st dread of anarchy unsatisfactory decisions with the Church formed into power of the Churchmen nobles & signers of an unpurged protestation of all sorts & men (a)

The other dread the scheming of the regn-ing powers (whether kings ministers or) to an unstable independence & have every thing obey their own will & never at all submission & frustration of mind & crony strong with the attack of Despotism

For want of better name, & to avoid terms of precise Disposition, I shall call the 1st Form of the 2 Whigs & Tories but what a whig I mean is an evil but denies but such a wicked measure leads to it & so much the contrary measures I lead to the contrary it. The Whig the same measure
