

A rain-born Goddess seize while wet,
Her largest eye extinguish;
She'll turn to Laugh with you; and yet
Her laugh's more French than English.

~~Mr. Henry Giffle, late Coagmeor & now at home, of a friend Britain's Strand~~

My first, kept close, is reached by art
Pass on, you come to air.
The 2^d's what folks often do,
From boat at Vauxhall stair.

TM 191812

When Will, the conqueror, pent at home,
Far off veiwid Britain's strand;
What wasn't he wished for? twas the whole.
Surely the whole is land?

My 1st is his - Whose? mine? - No, his.

My 2^d is a Tony:
Who writes my whole, writes sometimes lies,
And calls it all his story.

I saw a ram beyond a sea, then a little bit of pond;
 But after that it look'd quite cramp, & I nothing durst be.
 Surely you saw a world? quoth Bell; yond.
 I did, said I, within an ell.

What does the Farmer do with wheat from the ear to sever?
 What must we never grow, if we'd be young for
 What must we ever get if in the house we'd be?
 Thy pt my meat, my whole, form answers to these things

My 1st you always find by hap; my next in ryes you see;
But not with ease; so first cut off from rye one part in three.
Whoever chance to get my whole gets happy I'll be bound.
Come gape me quick and happily, or quickly send me round.

No 4

Put your hand in an empty purse, and what is there in't? why tis.
There's my first, and my <sup>1st there will be till you take it out again.
If no money you find, there's my <sup>1st I say; if some you find there's my <sup>2^d
And the more you find, the more tis my whole, ~~the handsomer~~ still tis reckoned.</sup></sup></sup>

TN/19/1812

What's my first? Is it useful? I answer no! no!
And my Second is but a poor thing do you see;
Well! I hope that my third to the devil will go:
Oh fie! — why tis nothing to you or to me.

A ~~*~~ to a Christian, when selling his gear,
Will swear to the truth of a ~~*~~, on his soul;
First & second you've got; now whenever you hear
A Jew tell an untruth, you hear a - my whole.

My first from my second takes oats for the horse
While Bob is the hostler at Tiverton Cross.
The door of the Harness-house goes with a catch.
He pulls at my whole, & so up goes the latch.

Another charede on the same word by Mr Theophilus Turner

Bob makes my 1st, my second's built
By Carpenter or Joiner;
My whole will weave; to get it made
I've been to Bob. - The. Turner.

When Mother calls my brother James
She cries out *, and that's my first;
And when my shoes *, (that's my second)
Mother knows they soon will burst.

My whole I hardly dare to handle,
Lest I should a joint or limb-crack;
Tis so slight and quaint; — to dandle
Fitter than to use; — a ginerack.

My 1st beginneth with an s,
Forming a rhyme exact to Miss;
My next beginneth with a t,
Rhiming to case oblique of she;
My whole's the daughter of my mother;
She's my , I'm her brother.

My 1st is found in midst of froth
Lakes to Venus, sea-born Queen, TM 1918.12
~~338~~

In Venus self, excepting us,
by all mankind my second's seen.

Venus each day, when warm'd with play,
Is drawn by doves, for that's her rule;
So is my whole drawn every day,
But not till it begins to cool.

My 1st must ever be submitted to;
My 2^d's hard! — an ache suppress'd.
My whole cold Beef, as I use, is fitted to,
Pork, goose, or Macaroni I rest.

My 1st, says Pat, I drink for breakfast.
Pull the rope, my 2^d rings.
Merrily the party sit-fast
Round my whole which hold the things.

Nº 9. Estimadas, se nos tiene que dar una mano. Tú has de decir que no es lo que dice el doctor pero que es necesario que se haga.

Agradecemos tu amabilidad. Te queremos mucho
y te deseamos que sea un día muy feliz en tu vida. Si necesitas nada, no dudes en ponerte en contacto

My 1st is a band, my 2^d a box,
My whole is a wardrobe, so guess me, you folks.

Pip's my first, my 2^d's kin
To all that spring from Adam;
To serve you in the nursery
You'll find my whole, good madam.

Some call me blue, some say I'm white,
In French, cat short - ~~tis~~ my 1st that I mean,
A dog with my next is in sorry plight,
My whole is a sweetmeat that's fit for a queen.
