My dear Mother

I received your kind letter of the 10th and was glad to hear from you and to hear that you were all well.

I am well and hope these few lines will find you all the same.
I have not much news to write at present.

I have just received a letter from your brother and he says that he is well and that he is still at the sea.

I hope that you will all be well and happy and that you will continue to love me as I love you.

Your affectionate son
John

Handwritten notes on the bottom left margin, including the word "The" and other illegible characters.

Main body of handwritten text, heavily obscured by large brown stains and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mostly illegible but appears to be a continuous paragraph.

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the train was a warm blanket of sun.
 The air smelled like fresh bread and the ground felt like soft sand. I had never felt so at home before.
 The people here were friendly and the food was delicious. I had heard that the weather was perfect and the people were nice. I was right.
 This was the best vacation I had ever had. I had heard that the weather was
